Luke : I think it's a man and he's carrying a soccer ball.

Maria : No. It's actually two women, and they are carrying the Earth.

Luke : I didn't know that.

Maria : Do you know how tall it is?

Luke : No. 25 or 30 centimeters?

Maria : No, it's 40 centimeters.

Luke : I see. It must be so heavy.

Maria : In fact, it is only six kilograms, so many people think it's ※hollow. And do you know what's more interesting about the World Cup??

Luke : Is it about the trophy?

Maria : Yes. The original trophy was a cup, and it was called the Jules Rimet trophy. England won it in 1966, and just after they won it, it got stolen, and then a dog found it in someone's garden. The name of the dog was Pickles. After that, the trophy was won three times by Brazil.

Luke : OK. What country has the original cup? Brazil?

Maria : No, it doesn't. The trophy was stolen in 1986 again, and it has never been found.

Luke : Oh. So, we need another Pickles, then.

Maria : Do you know about the new trophy? ※FIFA keeps the new trophy, and the winners only get a ※replica. Like most cups, the winner's name is ※engraved on the cup.

Luke : Where are the names on that, then?

Maria : ※Underneath. So, you can only see the winner's names if you look under the trophy.

Luke : There is not much space there.

Maria : That's right. So, there'll be a new trophy in 2030.

Luke : I hope it will be a cup this time.

Maria : And let's hope it won't get stolen.
